"OLD ABE" GONE.

The "Appeal" Office Bull Dog Passes Away.

It is our sorrowful duty to announce the death, by old age, of Old Abe, who for fifteen years was the Appeal office bull dog.

Abe did not get his name from the martyred President, as might be implied, but from Mr. Abraham, the Superintendent of the Poor Farm, who raised him from his puppyhood and presented him to the Appeal office. His sire was a full-blooded Irish bull dog, but his mother was a low bred creature, who gave to her offspring the only mark of his mixed origin—a broad, thick tail, which no aristocratic dog is supposed to have.

He had two notable brothers. One was owned by Postmaster White, and was as game a dog as ever breathed. The other was a Virginia City dog, which was some years ago pitted against a 250-lb grizzly cub and gave it such a rattle that the owners of the bear begged for a cessation of hostilities.

About this time a man came to Carson with a big mastiff ready to fight "any dog that wore hair." The sports agreed to back Abe against him, but after seeing Abe he reconsidered his proposition and went to Reno to hunt lesser game.

When the dog was about five years of age he was in his fighting prime. One night six dogs got into a fight in a vacant lot near the school house and kept up the fray all night. In the melee Gov. Adams' dog and two others were killed. Miss Clapp's Siberian mastiff was laid up for six weeks and not expected to live. One dog had his fore legs chewed to shreds, and Old Abe came home in the morning with both ears and two teeth gone. He was laid up two weeks.

When old age overtook him he moped about the house whining for sympathy, until he became deaf and almost blind, and one morning was found dead in the barn, after having refused food for several days.

Harrison Getting in Line.

Congress met yesterday and in the President's message he says:

Some months further trial will be necessary to determine the permanent effect of the recent legislation on silver values, but it is gratifying to know that the increased circulation has exerted a most beneficial influence upon business. Our very large supply of gold will, if not lost by repulsive legislation in the supposed interests of silver, give us a position of advantage in promoting a permanent and safe international agreement for the free use of silver as a coin metal.

He also favors the postal telegraph.

Nevada Horses.

Among the horses in training at Agricultural Park Sacramento, none attract more attention than the Winters' yearlings, which have been carefully broken under the supervision of the veteran trainer, John Davis. The pet of the stable is the chestnut half sister (by Hooker) to El Rio Rey, The Emperor of Norfolk, et al. She is ridden daily by George Evans, while his son rides another Hooker colt alongside.

A Nice Christmas Present.

There is now at Cagwin and Noteware's a thoroughly first class lathe suitable for turning wood, brass and iron.

It is the famous Barnes' patent velocipede power manufacture and is complete with tool carriage chisels etc. It is for sale cheap for cash. Go look at it for your own workshop or your mechanically inclined son.

Indorsed by Browning.

The celebrated poet Robert Browning, pays this tribute to Mrs. Le Moyné: "You not only understand me, but you make your hearers understand me, also." She will appear at Odd Fellows Hall, Dec. 8.

Tickets can be secured at Frank Golden's or of Miss Ella Bender.

The Wood Men Hot.

The wood men are having a row with Charley Thompson and threaten to run him out of town. It appears that he has entered into a partnership with F. S. Gladding and is now introducing the Farnham Heating Drum and people all over the county want him to put it on their stoves. It only takes about half the wood to heat a house and of course the wood men are losers.

They realize now that trade has fallen and have traced the trouble to Charley Thompson. They have notified him to take his infernal drum out of town or suffer the consequences, but he has merely ordered another carload and everybody is now ordering more drums. If Thompson keeps up his lick some of the wood yards have got to quit. Even now many of his oldest friends who are in the wood business, refuse to speak to him on the street.

Married.

By the Rev. C. L. Logan, Geo. Allen to Miss Celia Carpenter, both of Glenbrook. The couple took last night's train to Oakland where they will reside.

Walter Cady, who is superintending a force of workmen engaged in constructing a levee on Sanguinetti's ranch, ten miles from Bellota, a village near Stockton, reports that ten skeletons have been unearthed by workmen at different places. The remains are supposed to be those of Indians killed in a battle with emigrants, as the place where they were found is but a few hundred yards from an old emigrant trail.

Bill Nye, when confronted with the proofs that he is responsible for the Indian war, tries to throw it onto the shoulders of this journal. He betrays his guilt, however, when he offers to pay for the war out of his own pocket. If Nye finds the cost of maintaining the war at all annoying he will be kind enough to forward the bills to this office for immediate liquidation.

Of the unclaimed and undelivered mail matter received at the Dead Letter Office during the past fiscal year, 27,000 were found to contain drafts, checks, notes, commercial paper, etc., in the sum of $1,471,871, while 48,000 contained paid and cancelled obligations, receipts evidencing payments of money, deeds, mortgages, general miscellaneous papers, etc.

Geo. T. Davis has added improvements to the building occupied Muller, Schmitt & Co., which has considerably enhanced its appearance. One of the men who packed brick up the ladder placed the bricks on a square board and carried them up on his head. This might with propriety be called head work.

The following letters remain unclaimed in the Carson Postoffice December 1, 1890: Ladies—Maria Flueriderchia, Mrs M. Victors, Mrs Abbie Holtz, Mrs Mary Melford, 2. Gentlemen—Buno Arsati, J D Cary, Archangelo Dondero, Geo A Davis, City Civil Engineer, B T Jepson.

R. S. RODMAN, P. M.

Prof. Thomas Anderson, of the San Jose Athletic School, commonly known as Tom McCormack will be the instructor of an athletic club to be started in this city shortly. He may fairly be considered as one of the cleverest boxers that has reached Nevada for several years.

Pete Gordon and sire, Frank Bryant, Leslie Bell and George Cowing have returned from a three days' hunt among the wilderness of tules at Washoe Lake, having bagged 25 ducks. This is no misprint; 25 is the number, and any report that they killed less has no foundation.

Astray.—A heifer calf about 8 months old. Apply at Shaw's Hot Springs.

Fresh trout, crabs, oyster, shrimps and all kinds of sea fish every week. Bananas and oranges at Tennants.
